

Our company group (AME International GmbH, Advanced Technologies Austria GmbH) has been very successful in the international project business for more than 25 years. For the strongly emerging segment of agribusiness within our company, we are looking to strengthen our team for a

PROJECT ENGINEER for Agribusiness (m/f/d)

Your field of activity:

- Agri-technical evaluation and detailed agri-technical conception of existing project ideas with focus on field crops and agricultural technology for emerging and developing countries
- On-site project planning/project coordination with the customer
- Identification of suitable project-specific suppliers and specification of the project-related scope of supply
- Preparing project-relevant presentations, carrying out various research activities and analyses
- Support in project execution and operational agendas

Your profile:

- Completed studies or training in the field of agricultural economics/agricultural science or related fields of study
- At least 3-5 years of subject-specific professional experience
- Profound knowledge of farm operations, theory and practice of common agricultural technology as well as cultivation and irrigation of field crops
- Business fluent English is a prerequisite, another foreign language (French/Portuguese/Spanish or others) is an advantage
- Experience in project management is an advantage
- Willingness to travel (esp. Africa, Asia) is a prerequisite, experience abroad an advantage
- Team-oriented personality with a high degree of independence, motivation and willingness to learn.

We offer you:

- Challenging, dynamic field of activity with exciting long-term perspectives
- Cooperation with a committed team
- State-of-the-art office with excellent public transport connections
- Extensive social benefits, the possibility of flexible working hours and a wide range of further training options round off our attractive offer.

Does this appeal to you?

Then please send your written application with curriculum vitae and photo to our personnel manager Ms. Ilse Mayer: i.mayer@ame-international.com;

For your initial information, please refer to our homepages:

www.atechnologies.eu and www.ame-international.com